

UNIVERSITÄT ERFURT

The Center for Political Practical and Orders (C2PO) invites to

A LECTURE SERIES (ONLINE)

Technology in International Politics.

Interdisciplinary Aspects of a Broad Phenomenon.

Conveners: Madeleine Böhm, Janine Schmoldt

The vital impact of technology on international affairs and international politics is increasingly addressed in interdisciplinary approaches linked to International Relations. Cases and debates on (cyber) warfare, digital capitalism and (platform) economics illustrate that. This lecture series, therefore, addresses various aspects of this broad phenomenon, giving space to scholars from different fields who will present the latest findings of their research.

The lecture series will take place via Webex. The meeting link will be sent to registered participants.

Please sign up to participate by sending a short email to lorina.buhr@uni-erfurt.de

For more information, please visit <https://c2po.projects.uni-erfurt.de>

25.11.2021

Imaginarities of Cyberwar in International Legal Scholarship

17:30 CET | Lianne Boer (Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam)

13.01.2022 (Convener: Stefan Schmalz)

The Curious Case of the Sino-German Technical Standardisation Partnership

18:00 CET | Sarah Eaton (HU Berlin), Daniel Fuchs (HU Berlin)

20.01.2022

The (In)visibility of Platform-Mediated Labour

18:00 CET | Katarzyna Gruszka (WU Wien)

27.01.2022

Intellectual Monopoly Capitalism

18:00 CET | Cecilia Rikap (City, University of London)

01.02.2022

The Dynamics of Cyber Conflict

18:00 CET | Max Smeets (ETH Zürich)