Russia's War against Ukraine

Ukraine's international agency, nation-building trajectories and local identities

Margaryta Rymarenko, PhD (CEU)

Wednesday, 13 April 2022 | 16-18 c.t. | HS3 & Webex (hybrid)

Margaryta received her PhD in Political Science from the Central European University (CEU) in 2018. She holds an MA in International Relations and European Studies from CEU, and an MA and BA in Regional and International Studies from Kyiv Taras Shevchenko National University, Ukraine. Her research focuses on regional security dynamics and order, regional security institutions and comparative regionalism.

She will talk about how Ukraine's international agency, nation-building trajectories and local identities across regions are getting crystalized through the experience of war, and how the current social and political resistance against Russia rests on the experiences of the 2004 and 2014 democratic revolutions.
