

Entanglements of Race, Space, Time.

T.Z.M. Nachwuchskolleg Reading Workshop

18th April 2019

9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

IBZ Erfurt

Michaelisstr. 38,

99084 Erfurt

This workshop proposes a critical take on the discursive construction of race as developed in different contexts of the Black Atlantic throughout time. It will discuss a set of readings that focus on the ways that the category of race is entangled with categories of time and space, approaching the issue from the perspectives of recent writing on the epistemology of blackness and its various visual and textual practices, along with new materialist approaches to the categories of space and time.

Alongside fictional texts by Octavia Butler and Junot Diaz, we will look into Michelle Wright's Physics of Blackness and the recent work of Prof. Carsten Junker (Technische Universität Dresden) and Prof. Thomas Allen (University of Ottawa).

contact: entanglements2019@gmail.com

This event is brought to you by Texte. Zeichen. Medien, the DAAD, and the Professorships of American and British Literature at the University of Erfurt.

UNIVERSITÄT ERFURT